I, the undersigned, am a homeschool educator. I agree that it is important to Methodology that its teaching materials are only available to teachers and homeschool educators. I further agree that Methodology may be providing me a special benefit as a homeschool educator compared to those it confers on non-homeschool educators. I agree to be bound by the terms in any applicable license agreement, including terms restricting my ability to distribute the materials I have purchased from Methodology to people other than my student(s). I agree that the promises I have made are contractual conditions of sale between Methodology and myself with respect to my license to use Methodology's content.
